

Biblical Metaphors for the Holy Spirit

MICHAEL E.J. WRIGHT

From beginning to end, the Bible tells us of God's amazing plan of salvation and restoration for humanity; i.e. the restoration of all that was lost to Adam's fall, the consequences of which were subsequently made worse by his descendants wilful association with their first father's disobedience. The Scriptures provide many different images which explain God's plan and how he is bringing it to full accomplishment. Jesus Christ, in his entire person, and by his redemptive works, is at the heart of that plan. But Scripture also emphasises the importance of the person and actions of the Holy Spirit in restoring to persons and to peoples the breath of life, the rûah, the pneuma.

An interesting look at the Holy Spirit in Scripture – in the form of Breath and Wind, Fire, Dove, Oil, Water, New Wine and Seal. Biblically referenced with some thought-provoking content on the extent of the Spirit's work within the Bible, this is a book that will appeal to those who want to dig deeper into what the Word of God says about who the Spirit is and how he works. The first of a trilogy.

AUTHOR BIO

A former Chartered Quantity Surveyor, Michael Wright has served in The Apostolic Church and the Open Brethren (APEB) group of assemblies. After retirement, in 2001, he has been involved with a Church plant endeavour and has devoted much time to writing, in particular about God the Holy Spirit. He is married to Lucie and they have five children.

ISBN: 9781915046765

November 2023

Category: RELIGION / Biblical Studies / General

Paperback, 140mm x 216mm

140 pages, £12.99

malcolm down
PUBLISHING