ABOUT THE BOOK

Good Choices highlights one of the high roads to spiritual maturity and success. By focusing on the unexcelled kindness of the Macedonian churches towards those experiencing difficulties of various kinds as seen in 2 Corinthians 8. Keith shows that although the Macedonian Christians were in poverty, dealing with their own trial of affliction, hungry and experiencing great lack, they willingly gave to the ministry in order to support Titus and send him to save the wealthiest region of churches in Corinth. In addition, they did it all with joy, and beyond their means.

'In this book, Keith shares keys to unlock clues within the scriptures that will enable the reader to be more discerning and productive with the investment of their time, effort and money in both the spiritual and natural choices of life. The example of the Macedonians is the yardstick of kindness and generosity unsurpassed anywhere in the Word of God, and today still serves as a yardstick of success for our generations.' (From the Foreword by Aubrey Longmore.)

BIO

Keith Gentry was born in 1965 in Gloucestershire, England. He was connected to the Lord Jesus from the age of 8 years old. He has a many years' experience in teaching and is now a minister at a church in Milton Keynes, with responsibility for their small group programme. Keith still finds time to work with many leading businesses too. He is happily married to Janice and they have two children. This is Keith's second book.

ENDORSEMENTS

'Challenging, inspiring, practical and spiritual, Good Choices is aptly named. This must-read provides spiritual and practical guidance to help you make those right choices in the journey of life empowering people to go beyond the normal in what they see and go beyond their own power to walk in the will of God. I love the way the author has tracked the story of the Macedonian churches, showing how they were rich towards God and understood the greater need, even though they had nothing themselves. This is the complete opposite to what one would expect. This is what gripped me and inspired me.'

Pastor Samuel Fredericks, International Minister and Preacher, South Africa and the United Kingdom

'In his book, Keith shares keys to unlock clues within the Word of God to enable the reader to be more discerning and productive with the investment of their time, effort and money in both the spiritual and natural choices of life. Assured of the infallibility of the Word of God, Keith is convinced that if the reader is willing to invest time in spiritual disciplines, as well as in listening to God's inward voice, reading and meditating on the Word for guidance, then ultimate success is sure.'

Aubrey Longmore, Pastor, Teacher and International Preacher, Milton Keynes Faith Tabernacle UPC Church

'This is powerful, biblical, practical and inspirational discipleship teaching on making good choices in life as followers of Jesus.'

Revd David McDougall, Rector of St Mary's, Bletchley
